Appomattox County Library

"That is a good book which is opened with expectation and closed with profit" - Alcott.

"Some books are to be tasted, others swallowed and some few chewed and digested." - Bacon.

As you can see, I am quoting from a Book of Quotations in the library. Almost anything for which you would like a quotation can be found in this book. They are no trouble to find as they are in alphabetical order beginning with Ability and ending with Zephyr.

There is also an index of subjects and authors.

No bad news this week but some wonderful good news. Thanks to Mr. and Mrs. James C. Whitehead (Boogie and Mary Cat) the book holder for paper backs is all in one piece and filled with books. This is what the organization called, "Friends of the Library" is all about. When we really get started this fall, be very sure the Whiteheads will top the list. We really appreciate this. Thank you from the bottom of our hearts.

Circulation of books is good and getting better every day. Over 100 books a day were checked out in June and for the seven days so far in July, the figure is 837. With windows open on all sides the library is fairly cool and new magazines are on the table just waiting for you to read them. You may even check them out as you do books except for the newer ones which have to be returned the next day.

After reading an editorial in Lynchburg News about President Ford refusing to receive the Russian Author, Solzhenitsyn at the White House, I decided to read his book, "August, 1914". It is in paperback and very long so don't expect a comment on it yet.

It is a wonder to me that more young people in college don't major in Library Science. It is such soul-satisfying work. One person comes in and wants something on an antique lamp; another may want information on the Civil War; another on Interior Decoration and so on and on. Research is so interesting. Not that we always find that for which we are searching but we can at least try and that is fun.

This news is written over a period of several days and today after having read about one hundred and fifty pages of "August, 1914" and finding it no more interesting than when I began, I was delighted to discover that I was not reading the book which caused the author's expulsion from Russia. The name of that is "Gulag Archipelago", which I have not seen in our library. Life is too short at my age to make myself read something I dislike so I shall drop it. I detest most Russian novels. "Anna Karinina" is an exception and I liked it very much. "Dr. Zhivago" was also good after I saw the movie.

Incidentally in today's paper, there is an article stating that President Ford has reconsidered and will now receive Alexander Solzhenitsyn. According to the Lynchburg News, the President was afraid of irritating the Kremlin bosses but after due consideration he changed his mind. Quoting from the News: "Mr. Solzhenitsyn is not only one of the century's greatest writers, he is, because of his strong defense of individual liberty and his condemnation of Soviet tyranny and brutality, a world spokesman: he speaks for the millions of human beings around the globe who share his ideals."

So many, many books overdue! Won't you please bring them back and let others have a chance to read them, too.

Thank you.

Pastor's Corner

A chaplain tells about the young preacher who thought it was his duty to preach at least one sermon a year on women's dresses.

Finally, he had to give it up, explaining that it go to where there wasn't enough to take up half an hour.

Furthermore, when it comes to short mini-skirts, his congregation probably did not want the preacher to get upset over a little thing like that.

One has to agree that some of the current female clothing is "nothing to speak of" - and even less to preach about.

If, as someone has said, "dress is the table of your contents," then the book must be rather short.

The fact is, some little children can no longer hold to their mother's skirts they can't reach them.

Last Saturday at 4 p.m. funeral services for Mrs. B.V.L. Barksdale, of Lynchburg, were held at Rivermont Baptist Church. We, the members of the First Baptist Church, regret deeply of her passing. She served as pianist for us for fifteen years. She never failed to be with us on the second and fourth Sundays. She will be greatly missed by everyone. Mrs. T. W. Hamlet, Miss E. Wright, Mrs. A.
